

Thomas Engelbertz

Biography

Thomas Engelbertz is the CEO of Learnship, a leading provider of digital language training in SaaS enterprise solutions.

Thomas is an accomplished executive with over 10 years of P&L management experience in the Telecom, Internet, and Software-as-a-Service industries, primarily serving B2B and B2C markets.

As CEO of a leading global e-commerce company and member of Vodafone's senior leadership team, he was responsible for several international market subsidiaries. Thomas successfully led digital, B2C, and B2B businesses. Throughout his career, he has held high growth, transformation, and restructuring management roles that required strong leadership skills, business acumen, customer-centricity, perseverance, and agility.